

ABSTRACT

A circular buffer, i.e., a chain of buffers forming a circle, is provided for managing packet loss detection in Internet streaming. The detection latency is determined by the size of the 5 buffer chain, which can be dynamically adapted to network conditions and application requirements. The present invention can achieve reasonable detection accuracy.